

Tips on Choosing a color scheme for your shed:

1. Match your surroundings: Look at your home and the natural landscape around your shed to ensure your color choices harmonize with the environment. This doesn't mean you have to match exactly, but your shed should feel cohesive within its setting.
2. Consider your shed style: For example, modern escapes often suit bold contrasts like black and white, barn style buildings typically look best with earthy tones and playhouses work well with fun, bright colors like pink and purple.
3. Follow the Rule of Three: Stick to a maximum of three main colors for your exterior Apply these in a 60-30-10 ratio for a balanced look - 60\% main color, 30\% trim color, and 10\% window and door color.
4. Consider fixed elements: Take into account unchangeable features like roof color, stonework, or brick. Choose colors that complement these existing elements..
5. Use a color wheel: Understand color relationships to create harmonious schemes. Complementary colors (opposite on the wheel) create bold contrasts, while analogous olors (next to each other) offer a more subtle palette.
6. Think about light: Remember that colors appear differently in various lighting conditions. Test your choices at different times of day to ensure they look good in both bright. sunlight and overcast conditions.
7. Create a cohesive palette: Ensure all exterior elements work together, including the main siding color, trim, accents, roof, and even landscaping. Note: roof and trim should be similar in color, both either light or dark.
8. Consider the psychological impact: Different colors evoke various emotions. Warmer tones like reds and oranges are energizing, while cooler blues and greens are calming.

Remember, these guidelines are meant to help you make informed decisions, but ultimately, the best color scheme is one that makes you happy every time you see your shed!
